

Faculty Admission Committee access

In order to allow faculty committee members to review applicant information, they must be added as a Reader in Slate. To request access, the Graduate Program Manager or faculty member will need to fill out the short form located at the link below for each faculty member being added as a Reader. Be sure to list all the programs the reader will need access to (master's and PhD as applicable.)

After receiving the completed form, Graduate Studies' Staff will grant Slate access for each reader and allow them to use their BYU Net ID to log in to Slate.
