

The LPP program at BYU was a beacon of light for me. I learned powerful, spiritual, leadership principles. As principal of Endeavour Elementary (named after the space shuttle) I had an amazing experience. I was invited to Washington D. C. to participate in a NASA workshop that was recorded for congress to use in allocating money for outreach programs. The Academy of Sciences building was filled with space engineers, scientists, Astro physicists and leaders in the space industry. I was the only regular person in attendance but was put on a panel with some very gifted experts. What could I contribute?

(MATTHEW 10:19 - take no thought how or what ye shall speak: for it shall be given you in that same hour what ye shall I speak.) I prayed and knew what to say, "I am the least qualified person in this auditorium, but I have something special that no one else in this room has experienced. I am surrounded daily by 1150 children who love space and science." I was immediately bombarded by questions changing the discussion and focus to how to create this love in children. Heavenly Father truly intervenes for the benefit of his children.
