

My freshman year at BYU was key to the development of my faith in Christ. It was then, when I, like Enos, hungered and thirsted after righteousness, and felt a sincere desire to serve others. After serving in the Mexico Guadalajara Mission, I returned to BYU and married Janet Hansen in the Salt Lake Temple. In 1980 we both completed our BYU undergraduate studies, and I started law school at BYU, while Janet got a teaching job to provide financial support. We were fortunate to live in the newly constructed Wymount Terrace. With a view of the Provo Temple just across the street, it was easy to commit to weekly date nights in the temple where we forged a deep commitment to keep our covenants with the Lord and with each other, believing we might even be called someday to serve together as full-time missionaries. Although that calling has not come, we have felt called to serve as we have accepted assignments to collaborate with other professionals and teach principles of American law to law students in Ukraine, the Czech Republic, Myanmar, Austria and Poland - committing with each assignment to share the Light of Christ with many new friends abroad!
